

National Republican.

WASHINGTON, D. C., JUNE 20, 1861.

One Year, $100. Six Months, $50. Four Months, $25.

W. J. MURTAGH, Editor and Proprietor.

25. All general exchanges at rates selected among ourselves. Contributions will therefore receive special attention. Correspondence will be addressed to W. J. MURTAGH, President NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, Washington, D. C.

26. PERSONS LOCATED THE CITY FOR THE SUMMER can have the REPUBLICAN mailed to them by ordering the same at the office. Terms, 50 cents per month, in advance.

THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE.

In constructing the Departments of the Executive Government, their sub-divisions were indicated by the forms of other systems which were as applicable to us and as suitable for us as for the old institutions of England or any other Power.

3. The purpose of the creation of these Departments is to facilitate the transaction of public business with certainty, regularity and promptness. Every such Department is in the nature of a departmental office, and is administered by a political chief. Courts of Justice are constituted, with power of final decision, in each of the Departments—the consequences, but the great burden of administration, falls upon strictly administrative officers.

4. It is obvious to the least reflexive that a vast and unwieldy accumulation cannot be any one is in itself an obstruction to the transaction of business. This is just as applicable to matters of Government as to the private transactions of life. Railways divide and subdivide their business and it turns it over to various heads. There are roads in this country with more exact departments than those of the Union; and these subdivisions have been necessary to their economical administration.

Close analysis will instruct us, indeed, that the greatest practical evil in the administration of the State is the want of executive departments. It will be admitted, in a great system like ours, that prompt administration in the adjustment of business is absolutely necessary to insure economy on the one side and justice to individuals on the other.

5. Duty in itself is a source and a cover of trust. The statute of limitations of procedure rests upon the principle. Thus, many presentations in judicial administration are made in the business, for illustration, of the Treasury runs uniformly against the individual, and having observed the transaction involved, and added largely to the expenses of the person, now made testimony is put forward with strong political influences, and the State in the end is a great loser.

6. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business. Its administration is slow, even to paralysis; nor is there any fault of its official corps. It is, however, really necessary to increase the variety and scope of business. It enforces the custody and disbursement of the funds; the collection of the internal and custom revenue, the management of the public debt and securities, itself the business of a Department; the accounting bureaus, the bureau of regulation of the currency and of the banking system; the bureau of engraving and printing; the light-house board; the coast survey and of architecture and public buildings. This is all assimilated into one Department. To state the case is to stamp it as a violation of every principle the economical and effectual administration of the Government. No head of such a system can properly discharge his duties satisfactorily to himself and the public.

It is a well settled law, in our opinion, that when one is overburdened with business of justice—cases are turned off to get to the root of the trouble. These cases become in this way practically the “case of the day.”

7. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

8. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

9. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

10. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

11. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

12. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

13. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

14. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

15. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

16. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

17. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

18. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

19. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

20. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

21. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

22. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

23. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

24. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

25. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

26. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

27. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

28. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

29. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

30. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

31. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

32. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

33. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

34. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

35. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

36. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

37. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

38. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

39. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

40. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

41. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

42. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

43. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

44. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

45. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

46. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

47. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

48. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

49. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

50. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

51. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

52. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

53. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

54. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

55. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

56. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

57. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

58. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

59. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

60. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

61. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

62. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

63. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

64. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

65. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

66. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

67. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

68. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

69. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

70. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

71. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

72. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

73. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

74. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

75. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

76. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

77. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

78. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

79. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

80. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

81. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

82. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

83. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

84. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

85. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

86. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

87. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

88. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

89. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

90. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

91. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

92. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

93. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

94. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

95. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

96. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

97. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

98. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

99. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

100. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

101. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

102. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

103. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

104. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

105. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

106. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

107. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

108. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

109. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

110. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

111. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

112. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

113. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

114. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

115. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

116. The Treasury Department is overburdened with business, and it is found practically the “case of the day.”

117